Registration Fees

The regular registration fee is $185 (full-time/employed) and $100 for students/seniors/unemployed until October 15, 2017. Any registration after this date will cost an additional $25.

This fee covers access to the keynote presentation, panels, refreshments, and a lunch on Saturday. It also includes a banquet on Saturday night, to be held at the River Room at Museum London (<http://northmoore.ca/theriverroom/>). Dinner will begin at 7pm, and guests will have a choice of three entrees. Please advise us as soon as possible whether you have any allergies or dietary restrictions (cstha.ahstc.conf@gmail.com). Additional tickets for spouses or significant others can be purchased for $60.

CSTHA Membership

All participants of the CSTHA conference must be members in good standing. The regular membership rate is $80.00 and the student membership rate is $40. Each is for a two-year period.

Membership renewal or new memberships can be accessed here:

<https://www.iatspayments.com/Portal/IATS/AURAPreview.aspx?PaymentboxID=PA9D6EE315E61424F4>

Travel bursaries

The CSTHA offers generous travel bursaries to students who present at our conferences. Please retain all travel-related receipts, to be submitted to the CSTHA executive after the conference for approval (please email cstha.ahstc.conf@gmail.com). All reimbursements will be dependent on the number of requests received.

Tours (optional, no charge)

The Medical Artifact Collection at Western University (<http://medicalhistory.uwo.ca/>)

This tour will involve hands-on access to artifacts related to the history of medicine in Canada. The visit will begin at 5pm on Friday, November 3, will last for approximately 45 minutes, and be led by Dr. Michelle Hamilton of Western University. Participants are asked to meet outside of the Collection's main artifact display in Lawson Hall, Room 2260 (located off Oxford, between Middlesex and Lambton:
